Celebrating differences

Vikings

Before the Vikings arrived, Britain was home to Anglo-Saxons, who had divided England into 7 separate Kingdoms, each with their own rulers.

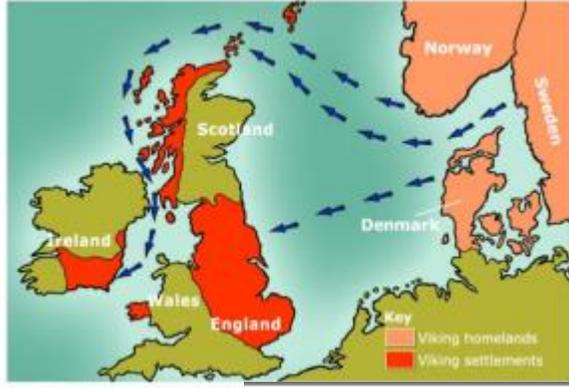

Vikings originally came from Norway, Sweden and Denmark. They sailed across the ocean in search of better land.

About the year 800, bands of fierce raiders began to attack our coasts.

The Viking Age in Britain began about 1,200 years ago in the 9th Century AD and lasted for just over 200 years.

Anglo-Saxons and Vikings were farmers and kept animals and grew crops. They were also craft workers who made objects from wood and metal.

The Anglo-Saxons had different kings who ruled their own kingdoms. By 878AD there was only 1 kingdom left, Wessex, which was ruled by Alfred the Great. The other Kingdoms had been overrun by the Vikings. After years of fighting Alfred the Great and the Vikings made a peace agreement, however they did still fight. They created an imaginary dividing line through England with the Anglo-Saxons to the West and the Viking lands (Danelaw) to the East.

RE

The ten commandments are fundamental set of rules of how God wants Jews and Christians to live. They can be found in the Jewish Torah and Christian bible.

The five pillars of Islam are five basic rules that all Muslims must follow: Shahadah, Prayer, Fasting, Zakat and Hajj.

The differing sets of rules across different religions guide people to make the right choices and live a moral life (similar to the everyday laws we must all follow).
